

Pro Bono Attorneys

Canal Alliance's Immigration Legal Services (ILS) program directly addresses the urgent need within the low-income Latino immigrant community for immigration legal services, so they can secure legal status to become engaged, contributing citizens. We are the only provider of affordable and comprehensive immigration legal services in Marin County.

As part of our advocacy and legal services, ILS conducts legal clinics and workshops, to be able to serve large numbers of clients over a one or two-day period. These events include naturalization clinics, DACA renewal workshops, Know Your Rights workshops, and immigration benefits screening clinics.

In 2017, we founded the Marin Pro Bono Network, alongside Legal Aid of Marin and the Marin Community Foundation. The aim of the network is to increase access to legal services for our clients by leveraging the impact of pro bono attorneys. By pooling our resources to identify uniform training and recruitment as well as collaborative and effective volunteer opportunities, we are able to focus valuable resources of time and energy on service to low-income clients in need.

If you are interested in volunteering as a pro bono attorney or interpreter in one of our future workshops, please register through the Marin Pro Bono Network. Partners and volunteers in the network work on a wide range of legal issues, from general civil legal cases to immigration legal services, in order to address the needs of our diverse population. However, if you would like to focus on immigration matters, you can specify that on the registration form.
